Lisbon, March 26.

THE King is extremely ill, and withal excessively weak, which has thrown him into so deep a Melancholy, that all the Methods practis'd to divert him, have little or no Effect. Eighteen English Merchantships entered this Port Yesterday, under the Convoy of two Men of War of their Nation. They are laden with Wheat, Oats, and other Grain, of which we have a prodigious Scarcity here, occasion'd by a Drought that has lasted three Months. An English Privateer of 24 Guns, and 140 Men, has been taken lately, about 7 Leagues from this Coast, by 2 Spanish Frigates; and about the same Time an English Privateer took a Vessel of the same Sort belonging to Barcelona, and carried her into Gibraltar. The Free Masons were a little too hasty in settling a Lodge here, without considering that we have an Inquisition, and they have paid for their Imprudence very dearly. The Holy Office has order'd a Dozen of them to be conducted to its prisons, and publish'd a Decree, by which all who are of that Fraternity are obliged to accuse themselves, and such of their Brethren as they know, within thrice 24 Hours, under very severe Penalties; to avoid which, most of them are already come in.

Bajia, April 2. The General Assembly of the Malecontents which was held at Bozio, broke up Yesterday; but we have no very distinct Account of its Proceedings. Most People, however, are of Opinion, that their pretending to disavow King Theodore is a mere Feint, and the Terms they pretend to keep with the Republick of Genoa, a temporary Contrivance to serve their own Purposes; since it is well known, that a considerable Remittance was lately made to their Agent, in a certain City of Italy, by King Theodore, from Leghorn, where there are several Officers and Engineers who live at his Expence, and wait only for his Arrival, in order to go on board, in all probability, for Corsica.

Venice, April 13. The Senate has given Orders for bringing over Italian Regiments from Corfu, in order to reinforce our Army of Observation; and they have likewise directed that 6000 Cirnides should be levied in order to replace such as are dead, or have deserted. A perfect Harmony is restored between the Republick and the Court of Great Britain; and very shortly an Ambassador will be sent to London. According to the last Letters from our Bailey at Constantinople, the Porte begins to be alarm'd at the Motions of the Shah Nadir, and that it had been resolv'd in a late Divan, to maintain exactly the last Treaty of Belgrade.
